

May 19, 2020

You're Part of a Local Medical Network

You're among a select group of providers who will be part of our new Truli for Health commercial HMO starting July 1, 2020. As a Truli provider, you'll be part of a local, innovative partnership leveraging key providers and health systems – with a focus on personalized patient care. You were selected to be part of the Truli network because you provide exceptional care to your patients.

The Truli network

A local provider network is one that's built with like-minded health care professionals who work together to provide complete and coordinated care to their patients.

Truli's local medical network connects area health care providers who share a whole person approach to health care.

Local, collaborative care team

Truli's medical network provides convenient local access through an integrated care team of primary care physicians (PCPs), specialists, health care facilities and community health care professionals.

You'll be part of a local medical team that works together to help your patients get healthy and stay healthy.

Personalized care

Truli supports the physician-patient relationship. The PCP takes the lead in working closely with other health care professionals to make patient care decisions within the local medical team. This ensures a proactive approach to managing health care needs and is dedicated to individual patient outcomes.

Truli promotes a forward-thinking approach that's centered on the patient/physician relationship. Establishing a personal relationship with your patients, and developing care plans together, will help create trust and motivate them to stay on track with their health.

We look forward to working with you to create the best health care experience possible.

Questions?

Email us at truliforhealth@truliforhealth.com

Health coverage is offered by Truli for Health, an affiliate of Florida Blue. These companies are Independent Licensees of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield Association.