To demonstrate impact, grantees must achieve a minimum 40% increase in food security over a three-year average, as measured by the survey. This metric allows the Foundation to assess the success of funded programs in helping underserved communities make progress towards and ultimately achieve food security.

FOOD SECURITY GRANT FUNDING FOCUSES

Florida Blue Foundation aims to improve access to affordable, healthy, and nutritional foods for vulnerable populations who live in food insecure communities.

To achieve this goal, we are funding two key focuses:

Focus 1: Transforming Health through Food

Healthy eating is a crucial component of overall well-being, and access to nutritious food can play a significant role in preventing and managing chronic health conditions such as heart disease, diabetes, and obesity which are prevalent in Florida. This funding focus supports programs that apply Food is Medicine principles to deliver effective interventions that improve health outcomes and quality of life. Funding will support initiatives that provide nutrition prescriptions, education, counseling, and medical nutrition therapy to individuals and communities. Programs that provide fresh produce and healthy food to support lifestyle changes and improve overall community well-being are a priority. Partnerships between health care providers, grocery stores, food banks, and community organizations that address food insecurity as a social determinant of health are encouraged.

Focus 2: Growing Access, Growing Capacity

Vulnerable populations in Florida, including children, families, and seniors, often face significant barriers to accessing healthy food, particularly in food desert communities. This funding focus supports organizations that provide essential services to address food access gaps and promote community resilience. Funding will support food distribution programs, including food banks, delivery services, pantries, and mobile markets, as well as urban agriculture and collaborative solutions that increase access to nutritious food. Effective organizations with strong foundations are best positioned to drive lasting change; therefore, support for operational needs is a critical component of this funding focus, enabling them to sustain and grow their efforts over time.

Background

The Foundation is committed to funding programs that empower vulnerable populations to overcome food insecurity and access nutritious food, promoting healthier choices and improved overall well-being.

In 2024, a staggering 13.7% of US households – 18.3 million families - struggled to access food, a 0.2% increase from 2023, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s Economic Research Service \(USDA ERS\).¹ In Florida, 1 in 7 people (3,247,180 individuals) face hunger, including 1 in 5 children (806,870 children).² Food insecure residents would require an additional $2.27 billion dollars per year to meet their basic food needs at an average cost of $3.69 per meal, which corresponds to a statewide shortfall of roughly 616 million meals annually.³

Food security is a critical social determinant of health that affects individual and population-level health outcomes. In Florida, where chronic conditions like diabetes, heart disease, and obesity are prevalent, food insecurity can exacerbate these conditions and worsen health outcomes. Food insecurity is estimated to contribute to over $77 billion in additional health care costs annually in the U.S., making it a critical issue to address.⁴

According to Feeding America, addressing food insecurity through evidence-based interventions like Food is Medicine, which leverages the therapeutic potential of food by providing essential nutrients and promoting healthy eating habits to prevent and manage chronic diseases, can make a significant impact on reducing the burden of chronic disease.⁵ Supporting initiatives that apply Food is Medicine principles, such as providing nutrition prescriptions, education, and counseling, and deliver fresh produce and healthy food, will bridge the gap in food security and foster a healthier future for these communities. Research has consistently shown that reliable access to fresh, local foods is a powerful catalyst for healthier choices, leading to better health outcomes and a reduced risk of chronic diseases

Ensuring access to nutritious food is essential for a healthy and fulfilling life. The USDA ERS defines food security as having consistent access to enough food for an active and healthy lifestyle. Unfortunately, food insecurity is a pervasive issue that affects many communities, with vulnerable populations, including children, families, and seniors, often facing significant barriers to accessing healthy food. Initiatives like delivery services, mobile markets, and urban agriculture can help bridge the gap by increasing access to nutritious food in underserved areas. The consequences of food insecurity can be severe, with far-reaching impacts on people's health and well-being.⁶

Florida Blue Foundation will provide four-year grants to nonprofit organizations with a proven track record of addressing food insecurity. Our goal is to help underserved communities make progress towards and ultimately achieve food security.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Food Security Survey and Data Reporting

Q: What is the Florida Blue Foundation Food Security Survey?

A: The Florida Blue Foundation Food Security Survey is a brief retrospective assessment that tracks households' progress from food insecurity to food security over time. Organizations administer the survey twice a year, without duplication, to collect valuable data on the effectiveness of their programs.

Q: What is the required percentage increase in Food Security that the grantee must achieve measured by the Food Security Survey?

A: Grantees are required to achieve at least a 40% increase in Food Security over a three-year average. This benchmark is based on the Food Security Survey. By tracking this percentage increase, the Foundation can evaluate the effectiveness of an organization's program in helping underserved communities make progress towards and ultimately achieve food security.

Q: What are some of the data reporting expectations?

A: In addition to the Food Security Survey, to help with documenting program impact, you will be expected to report the pounds of food distributed/meals served and an unduplicated count of new and existing clients served along with information specific to your program on a monthly basis. You will also need to submit brief six-month reports on your program indicators, expenses, and client demographics using Florida Blue Foundation report templates.

Grants Management System

Q: I'm having trouble registering or my organization Tax ID number is not recognized in your grants management system.

A: Click on "Contact Us" located in the blue box at the top of the page. You can also email: floridabluefoundation@floridablue.com; or call: 1-800-477-3736, ext. 63215. Please include your name, organization name, organization Tax ID, contact information, and interested grant program name. A team member will get back to you.

Eligibility

Q: Are current grantees eligible to apply to the same grant program? Or different grant program?

A: We encourage current Foundation grantees with multi-year grants to wait until your current grant agreement and funding have officially ended before reapplying to the same program. Please note that our Funding Focuses may change from year to year.

However, you can explore other funding opportunities that are different from your current funded program with the Foundation. We recommend considering opportunities that best align with your organization's goals and objectives. For more information, please visit: www.floridablue.com/foundation.

Q: Our organization has more than one affiliate or chapter across the state utilizing the same Tax ID number. Are we able to apply from multiple affiliates/chapters?

Food Security

A: Yes, each affiliate or chapter may submit its own application. If multiple affiliates or chapters plan to submit similar programs, we recommend submitting one statewide application that combines these efforts.

For large organizations with multiple divisions, such as universities, colleges, hospital systems, or government agencies, please note that only one application per Funding Focus is allowed.

Q: If an organization is not based in Florida but provides direct services in markets across the country including Florida, would the organization still be eligible to apply?

A: Yes, as long as the requested funds will be directed to the Florida program and the organization can provide the required documents in the Attachments section of the online grant application, including the Florida Solicitation of Contributions Certificate from the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services.

Decision-Making Process

Q: What is the decision-making process of selecting applications for funding?

A: A review committee composed of internal and external individuals who are knowledgeable and/or experts in this funding area make recommendations to the Foundation. The Foundation's Board of Directors has the final approval for all recommended applications.

Q: Will I receive feedback if my grant application is declined?

A: We appreciate the time and effort invested in each application, and the interest in receiving feedback on areas to improve and strengthen. Due to the high volume of applications submitted annually, we are unable to provide individualized feedback to all applicants. We strive to ensure fairness and consistency in our review process for all applicants. A declined application is not a reflection on the merit or potential impact of your proposal.

Our multi-year grant programs are highly competitive, and we can only fund a limited number of proposals across the state. We encourage you to explore our other funding opportunities, which can be found on our website at www.floridablue.com/foundation. There, you can review our funding focuses and apply to the opportunity that best aligns with your organization's goals and objectives.

Q: Where can I find previously funded and successful examples of projects that suit the Foundation's other Funding Focuses?

A: The Foundation's website is a great resource for additional information that highlights some grantees. For more information, please visit: www.floridablue.com/foundation.

Q: How many proposals do you expect to receive? How many will you fund?

A: We do not have an estimate of how many proposals we will receive. Florida Blue Foundation has approximately $3.2 million to fund the statewide Food Security grant program in 2026 .
